IAGC Announces New Leadership Direction

Houston, TX Houston, TX—The International Association of Geophysical Contractors (IAGC) Board of Directors today announced that it has taken a different direction for IAGC leadership. It announced that effective, 15 June 2015 Ken Wells will no longer head the association.

Roger Keyte, Chairman of the IAGC Board of Directors said, “The Board and I have the utmost confidence that in the interim, the professional staff will keep the association engaged and responsive to the global issues facing the geophysical industry. The IAGC Board and I wish Ken well in his future endeavors.”

The IAGC’s new leader will be announced in the coming weeks.

About IAGC

IAGC is the international trade association representing the industry that provides geophysical services (geophysical data acquisition, seismic data ownership and licensing, geophysical data processing and interpretation, and associated service and product providers) to the oil and gas industry.
